SENATE LEAVES IN EL PASO APPROPRIATION

Lets Stand the Sum Put in by the House for Purchase of a Site for a new Federal Building-Both Houses Pass Bill Retiring Justice Moody-Adjournment Saturday May Not Be Possible.

Washington, D. C., June 21.-The public buildings bill, which was passed by the house at 1 oclock this morning, was reported to the senate today by the senste committee carrying authorizations for about $5,000,000 additional. The El Paso appropriation for a site for a new postoffice is in it. Additions made by the senate com-mittee for buildings costing $50,000 or more include $200,000 for Amarillo

Moody to Retire.

The house bill authorizing the re-tirement of justice Moody, of the su-preme court, because of protracted illness, was passed by the senate today without the fermality of a conference, The measure now goes to the presi-

Legislation Tied Up. Because of opposition to the postal savings bill, it is doubtful whether congress will adjourn Saturday as had been practically agreed on. Another thing, senator Balley has announced unalterable opposition to the bill by senator Warren, of Wyoming, providing for an increase of the army engineering corps to 60 men-some to be used in reclamation work-because the senate refused recognition of Texas' rights in the Beaumont-Orange waterway matter.

The conference at the white house which the recalcitrants will be implored to help the administration program is likely tonight Deficiency Bill Passes. The general deficiency bill last of the regular supply measures to receive the approval of both houses of congress at the present session, was passed by senste today. It carries appropriations the senate administration aggregating nearly 0800,000 an increase leaders will be taken to task and at | of $1,800,000 over the house measure.

Rusk, Tex., June 21.-Leonardo Johnson, a negro charged with killing

Miss Mand Redding, a young white woman, was burned at the stake by a Sheriff Norwood and a posse were en route here with the negro when they were overpowered by a mob at Lone Star, near the home of the murdered Securing the negro, who was pleading for his life, the mob, composed of more than 160 men and boys, dragged him a short distance from the town.

There, it is stated, he confessed that he had murdered Miss Redding. The negro was then tied to a stake and, after brush had been piled high around him, the torch was applied. Disregarding the plending of Johnson, the fire was fed until he was dead.

Miss Redding had left her home en route to Lone Star about noon. Two hours later her body, with her throat out from ear to ear, was found in a dense wood a short distance from the town

TAFT PUSHES BILL FOR POSTAL BANKS

Washington, D. C., June 21.—On receiving information from the scuate today that a filibuster was proposed there by some insurgents against the postal savings bank bill, president Taft decided to abandon his trip to New Haven, where he expected to see his son graduate from Yale tomorrow.

The president said he would stay in Washington to look after legislation and that he would stay here all summer, if necessary, to take the postal hank measure through in a satisfactory form. It is his desire that the house bill be adopted by the senate without Early today he sent for several senators and had a long and earnest talk with them. The president is said to be thoroughly aroused over the situation.

Powers and Mrs. Johnson were arrested at an uptown lodging house early today. They were located through finding the boy, and were appreheaded as they were returning from an automobile trip to a suburban resort. Both were hadly intoxicated and denied all knowledge of the crime.

When the trunk containing the body arrived at the union station, it was found that it could not be shipped as the instructions read. Then it was set aside and later it was discovered the blood was running from it. It was broken open and the body found.

The police set to work immediately. Mrs. Johnson had a large sum of oney on her person, which she said her husband, who had sold a farm, had given her to keep.

At Seat Of Trouble In Sonora MIII S

Judge Fall Says New States Are Not Given the Liberty Granted Other States.

NO ELECTION HE THINKS TILL 1912

Judge Albert B. Fall, former attorney general and one of the leading figures in New Mexico politics, although he is making his home in E! Paso at present; thinks that the present statehood bill which has just passed congress and has been signed by the president, is the best the territory can get at present and as such, must be accepted by the people of New Mexico, although there are a of objectionable features in the bill. One of these cited by judge Fall is the qualification for holding state offices This is to the effect that anyone elected to office must be able to speak the English language. "There is no danger of anyone being elected to a state office in New Mexico who cannot speak English." judge Fall said, "yet the people feel that the paragraph is a slight on them and is unnecessary. The same is true of the educational qualification that English be taught in the chools. English has been taught in the schools for years and has been required by the compulsory education law since 1891. These seem unnecessary and out of place in such a bill as much so as they would in the constitution of any other state.

People Not Tested Fairly.

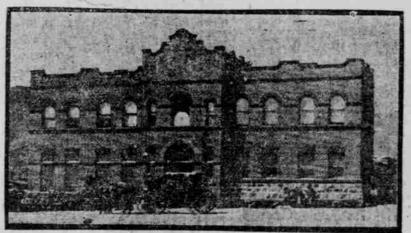

"There are certain other clauses in the bill which say that so and so must be done and these clauses are irrevoca-This does not put the people of New Mexico on an equality with the people of other states for no such restrictions ever entered into the nstitutions of any other states. The voters resent this, for there is no more reason that this should be done with New Mexico than any other state in the union. Then, the way in which the constitution must be approved by both the president and by congress is another objectionable feature. The constitution to be adopted by the constitutional convention must first be submitted to the president for his approval, If it meets his approval it is then sub-mitted to congress and if congress either approves it or does not disapprove it, the president will then Issue a proclamation declaring New Mexico a state and calling for a state election to select the officers. No other state ever came into the union under such conditions. If the provisions of the present statehood bill are adopted and later the people wish to hold a constitutional convention to amend it, it would be necessary to go to congress and get its permission to hold the convention, thing no other state is required to do Non-Partisanship Urged.

"I do not think that there will be state election in New Mexico before 1912 unless the next congress takes immediate action on the statehood matter. Then special election could be held. der the provisions of the statehood bill, there will be no elections this fall, The present officers will hold over until the constitution is accepted and the state election ordered. I hardly think this will be done before 1912, when I prediet that the election will be a hot one There is a strong feeling throughout the territory for a non-partisan constitutional convention. Personally I am in favor of an absolutely non-partisan conventon and I think it will eventually amount to that. The two parties will probably not take that stand but will insist upon drawing the party lines and it may be that some counties will assume the same position. But my opinon is that the result will be a largely non-partisan convention to consider the provisions of the constitution. I would like to see the territorial central com mittees of both parties get together and leclare for a non-partisan convention. The Constitution.

Under the provisions of the state hood bill, a constitutional convention will be held, after which the constituion will be submitted to the people for approval. If a majority are in favor of it, the constitution will be presented to

Best Paper In the State

McKinney, Tex., June 18, 1910. Editor El Paso Herald:

Enclosed find check. Kindly send The Herald to me here, as it is the best paper in the state and from the best town in Texas.

The people of El Paso do not appreciate a good town until they get out over the state and see and come in contact with the tight wads and moss backs in other parts of the state.

Respectfully,

Angus Hunter.
